

Grade 12 English College Prep:

We study selected works of British literature from Beowulf to present day, including poetry, drama, prose (such as novels, short stories, and extracts).

ERWC: Expository Reading and Writing Course:

ERWC is designed and developed in coordination with California State University Fullerton to improve students reading and writing in preparation for college.

We read and write essays and responses on thematic modules on contemporary topics. The modules include articles from various sources and may include works of literature.

Advanced Placement Literature:

We study various examples of British and American literature in preparation for the Advanced Placement Exam and to enhance the students' understanding of literature in general.
