Content Standards

Content Standard(s):

Content Standards: History/SS: Students in grade one continue a more detailed treatment of the broad concepts of rights and responsibilities in the contemporary world. The classroom serves as a microcosm of society in which decisions are made with respect for individual responsibility, for other people, and for the rules by which we all must live: fair play, good sportsmanship, and respect for the rights and opinions of others. Students examine the geographic and economic aspects of life in their own neighborhoods and compare them to those of people long ago.

1.2 Students compare and contrast the absolute and relative locations of places and people and describe the physical and/or human characteristics of places.
   - Locate on maps and globes of their local community.

1.6 Students understand basic economic concepts and the role of individual choice in a free-market economy.
   - Understand the concept of exchange and the use of money to purchase goods and services.
   - Identify the specialized work that people do to manufacture, transport, and market goods and services and the contributions of those who work in the home.

Assessment of Standards (formative and summative)

F: Collaborative conversations or informational writing about community workers, describing their services, equipment and importance to the community.

F: Create a community map through a pictorial and add to it as the unit continues, using their own ideas and drawing.

S: Students will use information and resources from the unit to identify and describe a community worker that provides a good or service.

SAUSD Common Core Lesson Planner

Unit: 4
Prepare Learner A Collaboration Rules

Grade Level/Course:
First Grade

Duration: Estimated 60 minutes

Common Core and Content Standards

- SL1. Participate in collaborative conversations with diverse partners about first grade topics and texts with peers and adults in small and larger groups.
  a. Follow agreed-upon rules for discussions (e.g., gaining the floor in respectful ways, listening to others with care, speaking one at a time about the topics and texts under discussion).
  b. Continue a conversation through multiple exchanges.

Materials/Resources/Lesson Preparation

- 1. Let's Collaborate pictures
- 2. Butcher paper for Classifying Map of collaboration/student talk (see example included)
- 3. Rules of Collaboration
- 4. Collaboration Song

Objectives

Content:
Students will learn how to work together in collaboration groups and establish rules of collaboration.

Language:
Students will be listening and speaking in a whole group and with partners.

Depth of Knowledge Level

- Level 1: Recall
- Level 2: Skill/Concept
- Level 3: Strategic Thinking
- Level 4: Extended Thinking

College and Career Ready Skills

- Demonstrating independence
- Responding to varying demands of audience, task, purpose, and discipline
- Comprehending as well as critiquing
- Valuing evidence
- Coming to understand other perspectives and cultures

Common Core Instructional Shifts

- Building knowledge through content-rich nonfiction texts
- Reading and writing grounded from text
- Regular practice with complex text and its academic vocabulary

Academic Vocabulary

Teacher Provides Simple Explanation: Rules of Collaboration, evidence, conversation

Pre-teaching Considerations

Consider pre-teaching the vocabulary concepts

Lesson Delivery

Instructional Methods

- Check method(s) used in the lesson:
  - Modeling
  - Guided Practice
  - Collaboration
  - Independent Practice
  - Guided Inquiry
  - Reflection

Lesson Opening

Say: Today we are going to learn how people work together in teams to accomplish a goal, or job. Discuss what it means to be on a team (sports, etc.) Talk about how teams in school also work together toward accomplishing a goal. Tell students that sometimes the goal is a finished product, something they make together, and other times the goal will be learning something.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Lesson Sequence</th>
<th>Play the powerpoint of pictures of people collaborating</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Display the powerpoint of Collaboration. Tell students that they will be looking at different ways people collaborate.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

1. With each slide, Ask: What did you see or notice? What did you see the people/students/children doing? Use Think-Pair-Share strategy for talking about what they see.
2. Elicit ideas from the students. Facilitate a conversation that explains: students making eye contact, only one student speaking at a time, students listening to each other, students helping one another, students focusing on the same things, sharing materials.
3. Record their suggestions on the left side of a tree map of collaboration. Left side is “What do we see?” Use positive language: ie. “Focus on the project”, not “don’t play around”.
4. Direct students’ attention to the right side of the tree map. Ask them to talk about what they think they would hear the people saying in the pictures. Again, use Think-Pair-Share and share out whole group.
5. Record students’ suggestions under “What we do hear?” Be sure to include: quiet voices, one voice at a time from each group, “I agree.”, “What do you think?” “I think___.” “Can you help me understand___?” “Thank you.”, “Please.”
6. Ask: What do you think our rules for collaboration should be?

Create rules for collaboration on a circle map:

1. Say: Now let’s look at the rules as they look a lot like our own. We will follow them when we work in groups together.
2. Display the rules and give examples so they understand them.
3. Optional: Sing the “Collaboration Song” by Vivian Kusiak to finish off the lesson!
4. Say: Tomorrow we will practice our rules in groups!

Differentiated Instruction:

English Learners:

Provide students with linguistic patterns:

I see _____.

I hear _____.

The people are _____.

The students are _____.

Special Needs:

Chunk sentences for them to repeat as necessary.

Provide time for partner talk.

Accelerated Learners:

Setting up for Collaboration Groups

1. Collaboration Groups will ideally be set up in groups of 4. Most of us have 31 students. So you can make the last row two groups of 3.

| collaboration groups |

2. Each group member has a job:

- Team Captain - Make sure everyone is working and assignment gets completed.
- Materials Manager- Picks up materials used by the team.
- Materials Manager- Collects and puts back materials used by the team.
- Editor- Checks groups work and fixes mistakes.

3. Initially, when setting up Collaboration Groups, it is suggested that you assign the Team Captain Job to a student who can take on the leadership role. This person will have the Team Captain Job for a few weeks. Students may keep the same job for about 2-4 weeks, until you feel students are comfortable with the routines. This allows students to become comfortable working together before introducing more difficult tasks.

4. Materials- Students use a specific color when they write during team projects. This helps with accountability. You are easily able to see what students have done individually.

1- Purple 2-Red 3- Blue 4-Green

Have crayons or markers in these colors available with group supplies. You may have pencil boxes or baggies with supplies groups regularly need. Items might include scissors, pencils, and glue.

Adapted from work by B. Noriega
Introducing Collaborative Groups

1. When beginning a Collaborative Group Activity always begin by explaining the purpose of working in groups: “We are connecting our brains to become smarter!”

2. Next, review Collaborative Group rules and explain why they are important. Read the first rule, have the students read it with you and then tell their Elbow Partner. Go over each rule using the same procedure.

3. Then, model jobs one by one. Have class model along with you. For example, for Team Captain, students may echo talk things that a team captain might say like, “Good job.” or “We all need to be working on this project.” For Materials Manager you can show what materials the team needs and how to distribute them in their group. Editor you can model how they would check that everybody from the team has their name written on the project paper.

4. Before releasing Collaborative groups, ALWAYS model the activity whole class. Make sure students know what each job is and what the job of the entire group is.

5. For the first few experiences in Collaborative Groups, give the students simple tasks so they can focus on routines. A great first activity is to allow groups to sort math manipulatives on tree maps (These are simple to create by drawing a tree map on construction paper and laminating for future use). They can work together to decide how to sort. Allow students to become comfortable working together before introducing more difficult tasks.

6. Once students are comfortable with their Collaborative groups you can begin to introduce more difficult concepts.

7. Always have students report their learning at the end of Collaborative Group time. This can be done in the whole group setting or Elbow Partners can share their learning.

Adapted from work by B. Noriega
Collaboration Groups

During Collaboration Group time, students work in small teams on an activity.

Students are accountable both as a group and individually.

Prior to Introducing Collaborative Groups:

1. Students are VERY familiar with classroom rules and routines.

2. Students are comfortable working in partners. A student’s Partner is the person sitting next to them on the carpet or at their desks. When students get into Partners they touch elbows (“Lock”), make eye contact (“Look”), and turn to each other (“Turn”).

3. Try to arrange seating on the carpet and at desks to facilitate heterogeneous grouping.

</table>
Review the tree map and the rules of collaboration.
1. Read what collaboration looks like and what it sounds like.
2. Remind students about what is on the tree map (what we should see and hear) as we work in our groups.

Establish groups:
1. Now we will form our teams for collaboration in our class. Students should have been seated strategically by this time, so the teams are already obvious. If not, take time to rearrange the seating to accommodate the teams, as shown in the attached directions for setting up the teams (groups.) Assign the numbers and colors, you may put the number in its color taped to the corner of the desk, or write it on the name tag, or you may want to make necklaces.
2. Talk to students about how sometimes they will work with one partner and other times they will be working in teams of four (model how those front students turn to face those behind them and work at the same desks.)
3. Distribute and explain “talking stick.” Model how and when they are used.
4. Explain and assign jobs. Model how these are done (see attached information).

Practice working in collaborative teams:
1. Say: Now we will practice working with our teams.
   a. First: Have students talk to one partner in their group about what their numbers, colors, and jobs are together so they know what they will be doing.
   b. Then: Write these sentence frames they will use as they talk: My number is__. My job is__. The color I will use is__.
   Students will take turns, using a talking stick, to tell all team members what their numbers, colors and jobs are. Begin with the captain.

Differentiated Instruction:

English Learners: Provide close proximity as these students work in groups, assisting with language of the task.

Special Needs: Provide close proximity as these students work in groups, assisting with language or understanding of their task.

Accelerated Learners: Take leadership roles in this first task.

Type of Reading: Read Aloud: No explanations necessary on this first read – point to pictures as you read and use expression with the rich language. Give the students time to look at the illustrations that go with the text on each page.

After Reading (5 minutes): Say: Talk to your partner about what happened in the story and tell your partner some of the details you remember. Use proximity to listen to your students conversations (see differentiated instruction on right for some strategies to assist students.) This is an opportunity to see how well your students grapple with complex text and it will help you inform your instruction on future reads of this text.

Let’s Reflect: Read and reflect on each essential question and determine which ones were answered. Guide students to support their answer using evidence.

Extending Understanding: Writing:

Prewriting (30 minutes): What is a Question?

1. Say: When we want to say something or give information, we say it using a telling sentence which is a statement.
2. (Teacher gives examples of statements. For example, use “Wake Up City”, Say: There are many buildings in this city. That is an example of a statement. Who else can share a statement? (Students share out statements, preferably from the book: people are waking up, the sky is dark, etc., but accept any statements.)
3. What do we say when we want to get information? We ask questions.
   - Questions help us learn new information and get answers,
   - There are key signal words at the beginning of a sentence that tells us it’s a question.
5. Orally Rehearse: Model using who?, what?, when?, where?, and why? to ask questions using “Wake Up City”. Use the statement, “The police officers walk around the city at night,” to formulate different questions. Have students use the question words to ask a question about police officers.
6. Hold up a question card and ask students to ask a question using that word. Repeat with other question words. Examples:
   - Who walks around the city at night?
   - What do police officers do?
   - Why do the police officers walk around the city at night?
   - When do police officers walk around the city?
   - Where do the police officers walk at night?
7. Have students echo talk the statement and questions, using inflection.
8. Do the same thing quickly with the statement: “Ducks swim on the pond.”

Partner Talk:

I saw___.
The story was about___.
In the beginning___.
Then___.
At the end___.

Students Who Need Additional Support:

Prompt students by asking questions about the setting, characters, and plot.

Accelerated Learners:

Advanced Learners:

Encourage students to include more details in their retell: Talk Move-Tell me more.

Differentiated Instruction for Writing:

English Learners:

Assist students by using Question Cards and linguistic patterns for questions. Who__? What___?

Special Needs:

Assist students by using Question Cards and/or linguistic patterns for questions. Provide assistance for the independent practice.

Advanced Learners:

Expect these students to write an independent question, also.

</table>
• Begin by drawing the road through the neighborhood. As you draw, explain that roads run through the neighborhood from the busy streets downtown, to the neighborhoods with houses and apartments.
• Optional: draw the harbor and ask what they remember about the harbor, (boats/people).
  Option 1: Place the black and white or colored buildings on the road and in the harbor, explaining and asking students what they know about each store or building/station/office.
  Option 2: Draw the building simply, explaining each one. This will take longer, so it is up to you and your style.

2. When the pictorial is done, explain that the students will help add more as they learn more about the people who work there.

Interacting With the Text: (20 minutes):
“Wake Up City” on or with library book on a document camera.

Type of Reading: Second Read, Read with a Purpose:
(This reading will focus on the details of the story – to answer the question: Who are the workers in the story? You will use some step aside explanations for vocabulary that help with meaning (stir, harbor, dawn).)

Note: The more figurative and colorful language will be further explored by the end of the week in a close read.

1. Say: Today we will read the story again and I want you to listen carefully and look carefully at the pictures to find all the different workers that are in our story.
2. Read the story again. After each page, ask students what workers the story talked about. Then focus on pictures, What workers do the pictures show us?
3. Add all these to the Defining in Context (Circle Map) of workers.
4. Optional: Place workers on your pictorial (print out 2 copies-one for Defining in Context (Circle Map)-later transferred to process rid, and one for pictorial)
  Option 1: Ahead of time, place pictures of workers in order in a pile so they can be added to the pictorial as students name them.
  Option 2: Add them at a later time as a review.

Let’s Reflect: Revisit the Big Idea and Essential Questions

Extending Understanding:
Collaboration-Workshop Activity:
1. Put students in groups of 2 to 4 with a sheet of construction paper
2. Have them collaboratively plan and draw a community similar to your pictorial.
   • Draw roads/streets
   • Draw buildings
   • Optional: add trees, cars, parks, etc.

Writing:
Students generate statement about what they know about teachers and their jobs. These statements will be turned into questions that someone might ask to learn about teachers. These questions can become interview questions that students can use to interview other workers to learn about their jobs.
Pre-Writing: (15 minutes)
1. Say: “Today I want you to think about the teachers you may have had in pre-school, kindergarten and now in first grade. Talk to your partner about teachers and their jobs. Allow about 3 minutes for students to talk.
2. Have students share out what they know about teachers. Write their ideas in sentence form on sentence strips (preferable) or chart paper.
3. Prompt students to think about the tools teachers use, what they do, who they help, etc.

Process Grid: Begin to add the Teacher on the process grid. Only write in the “Community Worker Name” and “How They Help our Community” sections. The other two sections should be filled out during or after Lessons 6-8 (Goods and Services) are covered.

Writing: (15 minutes)
Can be workshop/independent time
1. Re-read the sentences students generated.
2. Tell students to choose and write 3 sentences about a teacher and draw a picture of a teacher in their Student Learning Journal, p 5.

Some Folks in a Town
a takeoff on “Rub-a-Dub-Dub”

Ding-a-dong down,
Some folks in a town,
And who do you think they be?
The dentist, the baker,
the computer-parts maker,
the teacher, the nurse, and me.

Ding-a-dong down,
More folks in the town,
Now let me tell you who—the policewoman’s here,
the firefighter’s there,
the mailman’s next to you.

Ding-a-dong down,
More folks in the town.
So how many do you see?
Librarians, bus drivers,
doctors, and grocers,
We’re all a community!

Preparing the Learner:

- Prior Knowledge, Context, and Motivation: (5 minutes.)
  - “Some folks in a Town” (Teacher Resources)
  - Revisit the pictorial-add a few pictures of workers from Defining in Context (Circle Map) to appropriate places on the pictorial.

Lesson Continuum

Lesson Opening

Prepping the Learner:

Interaction with Text: (25 minutes)

- Reread “Wake Up City”

Close Reading of text and pictures

Differentiated Instruction for Reading:

English Learners:

Assist these students with the questions by pointing to illustrations as you ask
Teacher Background:
- The objective of this lesson is to help students think about how the author and illustrator help the student understand literal and inferential ideas of the text.
- Emphasize what the workers do to help people in the city
- As you ask questions, you can give students opportunities to talk with a partner(s) before sharing their own idea, or before sharing their partner’s idea. On other questions you can just take individual answers. Vary the strategies throughout. Always require students to give evidence from the illustration or text (what they hear or words they can read) to justify their answers.

1. Say: Today we are going to read parts of the story again and listen and look for some details the author and illustrator included to help us understand about a city waking up.

Text Dependent Questions:

Title Page: How do the illustration and title on this page help you understand the main idea of the story? (What is it about?)

pp. 1-2 (slide 2) Read these pages
- What does the author tell you when he says, ‘Under the stars, the city sleeps?’ (the setting-time of day)
- Who is awake at the beginning of the story? (mother, baby, police officers, cat.)
- Compare how the police officers and the cat are walking. (Focus on the words “prowling” and “walking their beat.”)

pp. 3-4 (slide 3)
- What does it mean that people ‘stir’? Show me what “stir” means in this sentence. (Total Physical Response)

pp. 7-8 (slide 5)
- How do you think these police officers are helping people in the city when they walk around at night?

pp. 13-14 (slide 8)
- How are these fishermen different from people who fish for fun? How do they help the community?

pp. 15-16 (slide 9)
- Name some of the fruits and vegetables that are sold at this market.
- How is the market helping people in the city?

READ THIS PAGE-have students listen for the answers:
- Who else might have done a job that helped get food to the people in the city?
- What in the text tells you that? (farm=farmer, truck= truck drivers. Read this section if necessary).

This lesson will continue the next day, with the rest of the pages.

Extending Understanding:
Collaborative Workshop Activity:
- In their groups, have students collaborate on which workers they questions.

Students Who Need Additional Support:
Assist students after the reading by pointing to the pictures and repeating the text so they know how the answers were formed.

Accelerated Learners:
Listen carefully to their answers and add deeper questioning to allow for more conversation.

Differentiation for Writing:
Writing: Prewriting (20 minutes): Developing Interview Questions

Refer back to the statements students generated yesterday about teachers.
1. Group the statements logically: i.e.: tools, who they help, what they do, etc. (This is easily done if they are written on strips.)
2. Ask students what question they could ask from the statements in one group.
3. Continue to generate questions from the groups.
4. Encourage students to think about any other questions they might want to ask someone whose job they didn’t know anything about.

Some types of questions that might be asked:
- What do you do in your job?
- Who do you help when you do your job?
- Do you wear a uniform?
- What tools do you use in your job?
- Do you work alone or do you work with other people to do your job?
- How did you learn to do your job?
- Why is your job important?

5. Write these questions on sentence strips.

Student Learning Journal, p 6: (10 minutes)
1. Students draw a community worker they would like to learn more about.
2. Students write (copy) 2-3 interview questions from the sentence strips you created.

English Learners:
Provide sentence frames using question words.

Students who need extra support:
Prompt them with sample questions using appropriate question words.

Accelerated Learners:
Expect more questions to be written.

Pre-teaching Considerations
For the interview, be sure you have scheduled an interview. Choose students who can remember/read the questions from their strip with little help to ask the interview questions today. If you do not have students who can do this, consider asking the questions yourself, but show the students the strips you are reading from.

Text Dependent Questions:

pp. 17-18 (slide 10) Read the page
- The text says the police officers are going back to the station. The author also says that the alarm clocks are ringing. What do you think the author wants you to know about workers in the city? (That some people are finished working and ready to go home when other workers are just getting up to go to work. There are both daytime and nighttime jobs in a city.)

pp. 19-20 (slide 11)
- Who are the workers on this page? What clues from the text and illustration helped you? (the pictures of the trucks and the text ‘garbage trucks’ & ‘sprinkler truck leaves a trail of shiny wet…’ tells you that a garbage collector and a street cleaner are working).
- How are these workers helping the community? (Keeping it clean)

pp. 23-24 (slide 13) Read the page.

Differentiated Instruction for Reading:

- English Learners:
  - Assist these students with the questions by pointing to illustrations as you ask questions.

- Students Who Need Additional Support:
  - Assist students after the reading by pointing to the pictures and repeating the text so they know how the answers were formed.

- Accelerated Learners:
  - Listen carefully to their answers and add deeper questioning to allow for more conversation.
• Where do you think the girl is going? What is your evidence? (she has a backpack)

pp. 27-28 (slide15)
• What workers does the author want you to remember when he writes this page and shows this illustration? (office workers, teachers, principals—take away is the schools are a place in the community where people work.)

Writing:
As a pre-writing activity, today you will interview a worker (pre-arranged). We recommend: custodian, (lunch lady), librarian, speech, nurse on your site or police officer.

Review the interview questions you wrote yesterday.
1. You can give each (numbered) sentence strip to a student who is able to read/remember the question.
2. When interviewing, ask student with question #1 to read their question. Allow worker to talk. Then proceed through other questions.
3. If a camera is available, take a picture of the worker with the students. This can go on your bulletin board.

Differentiated Instruction for Writing:

English Learners:
Allow these students think time and a question word prompt if they choose to ask a question on their own. Paraphrase what a worker says to make the information more comprehensible for these students.

Students who need extra support:
Allow these students think time and a question word prompt if they choose to ask a question on their own.

Accelerated Learners:
Allow these students to read the questions during the interview.

Lesson Sequence

Interacting With Text:

Close Read-Craft & Structure
This reading will focus on the craft/language used to create the setting (time) of the story. It will be looking at the figurative language and the specific language used to create both the setting and the mood.

Say:
1. “Today we are going re-read just a couple of pages of the story to understand the setting the author creates with beautiful words and illustrations.
2. What is the setting of this story?
3. Authors use words that help us picture, or visualize, a place and the time of day. Let’s look at the words the author used to show us what time of day it was and what it looked like outside.

See and use the explicit lesson (close read and art lesson) and sample following this lesson plan.

Writing:
Today you will have students recall what they learned about the worker they interviewed yesterday.
1. Create a Defining in Context (Circle Map) and write phrases as students recall what they learned.
2. Model taking phrase from the Defining in Context (Circle Map) and reading them as sentences. Have students Echo Talk each sentence you say.
3. Have students practice making sentences from the phrases on the

Differentiated Instruction:

English Learners:
Through the art lesson, students will “dim” the light by blending the chalk, etc.

Students Who Need Additional Support:
Through the art lesson, students will “dim” the light by blending the chalk, etc. Assist these students with blending and helping them to use their hands or tissue.

Accelerated Learners:
Make a connection to the visualization process that was created through art.

Differentiated Instruction for Writing:

English Learners:
Provide a Classifying Map (Tree Map) and/or sentence frames for writing.
| | Defining in Context (Circle Map) with a partner.
4. Brainstorm and write a topic sentence about the worker you interviewed. Students can copy this in their Student Learning Journal, p. 7.
5. Students can write in their learning journals 3 sentences about the person they interviewed.
See sample behind the lesson.

Option:
If your students are used to writing from a Classifying Map (Tree Map) only, you can sort their recollections about the worker into a Classifying Map (Tree Map) using the headings you feel will best support your students.

Students needing extra support:
Provide a Classifying Map (Tree Map) and/or sentence frames for writing.
Expect fewer sentences

Accelerated Learners:
Expect more or more complex sentences.

Close Read with “Wake Up City!” with Art Lesson

Materials Needed:
1. Gray construction paper 8 1/2 x 11 with city template copied on a Xerox.
2. Chalk (yellow, white, orange - if available)
3. Crayons (browns, yellow, light green, black, white)
4. pencil
5. Text from the book.
6. Doc camera for you to model the art with students

Read the first pages—don’t show the picture:

Under the stars the city sleeps. Only the police officers are about, walking their beat. Only an alley cat, prowling a backyard fence. Only a mother, rocking her baby back to sleep.

Ask: What words tell you about the time of day? (Under the stars)
Who is awake? (cat and mother).
Let’s show these words on our city. (Tell students to find the “prowling cat” Using chalk)—Make his eyes brighten in the night!
Add a little brown crayon to show him on the fence prowling.
How could we show the mother in the window? (get answers—they can light the window with some chalk. They can add a little chalk on the streetlight and blend it in with their finger or a tissue.)

Read next page—don’t show the picture: Then slowly the eastern sky begins to brighten.
What is happening now? (the sky is beginning to lighten) Find the sky in the background. How can you show just a little brightening of the sky? (Add some orange or yellow to the horizon of the sky. Blend it.)
Here a light goes on… there a light goes on, as people stir and waken. How could we show these words in our picture? (Students will add some light in some windows. You can discuss “stir” and “waken”—and why the lights are now on.)
Read next page– don’t show the picture: The city sparrows begin to cheep. And the ducks on the pond in the park call to one another across the black water.

a. Think about these words. Besides humans, who else is waking up? (sparrow and ducks)
b. Where is this happening? Can you find the park in the picture?
c. With your pencil, add some sparrow chirping in the trees. Add some ducks calling to one another. You can color the ducks in and the sparrows.
d. Now what should we do to the water? (Add some black to the pond with a crayon.)

Read next page– don’t show the picture: The city is waking in the dim dawn light, and the tops of tall buildings glow in the first rays of the rising sun.

Ask: What words does the author use here to help us know what is happening now? (dim, dawn light—tops of tall buildings glow, first rays of the rising sun)
b. Let’s begin with the dim, dawn light. Let’s go back to the sky. How can we add more dim light to show it is dawn? (add a little white or light yellow chalk to more of the sky and blend it in.)
c. Talk about the tops of tall building glowing. Have students add more a “glow” to some roofs that may face the sun.
d. Finally, what did the author say happened in the sky? Right! The first rays of the rising sun. If the sun is rising, where is it in the sky? (explain that the sun is just coming up, so only show part of it. Show them how to make a half of a circle to show it is rising. Fill it in with some orange and yellow chalk. Then add the rays coming out from the sun, brightening the sky.)
e. Have students talk to their partners or in a class discussion, how the author woke up the city with words. Discuss what they learned from the lesson.

2. Listen to the song “People Must Pay” on the DVD.
3. Watch the Introduction to Money video on the DVD or the link in the Materials section. |
| Preparing the Learner: | Introduce the concept: Students work with a partner to draw or write five ways they or their parents use money (they can sketch a picture or write words). Use Student Learning Journal Defining in Context Map (Circle Map) on p. 8.
2. Text features: Two options below, choose the one that fits your needs:
   - OPTIONS: If this is the first time you have discussed features of informational text, it will be essential to spend more time on introducing them. If your students already know about text features, skip this step and go to option 2.
   - Option 1: Introduce features of informational text/scan the text:
     - Ask students to look over the lesson 1 social studies text and with a partner talk about what they see.
     - Give students plenty of time to talk about the pictures and then remind them to look at the words and talk about what they see in the writing part of the pages.

Writing:

1. Oral practice: Use the Classifying Map (Tree Map) and sentence starters:
   • We need to buy ____. or I need ____.
   • We want to buy ____. or I want ____.
2. Informal Journal Writing: Students use their Student Learning Journal, p. 9 to write about what they or their family needs and wants. Encourage four sentences: two needs, two wants.

Lesson Reflection

Teacher Reflection

Evidenced by Student Learning/Outcomes

Accelerated Learners:

Expect compound or complex sentences. Require more than 4 sentences.
People work to earn money.

Some workers earn money by growing or making goods. Things that are made or grown to be sold are called products.

Some workers earn money by doing service jobs. A service job is a job people do to help others. A mail carrier has a service job.

- Reflection

Prior Knowledge, Context, and Motivation:

1. Listen to the song “People Must Pay” on the DVD.
2. Tell students that we are going to review goods and services.

Extending Understanding (from lesson 6)

1. Quickly sort the worker pictures into “goods” & “services” on a Classifying Map (Tree Map).
2. Introduce the process grid. You may already have put the workers on or you may have your students assist in deciding which ones to include.
3. Systematically fill in the Process Grid with your students having appropriate conversations as you go. (See sample)

Interacting with the Text:

“The Important Book About Goods & Services”

1. Read the title and the text to the students. Have students fill in the final line on each page.

2. Extending Understanding:

Writing:

Use Student Learning Journal, p.10: Students use their Classifying Map (Tree Map) to write/draw two workers who provide goods and two who provide services.

Differentiated Instruction:

English Learners:

- Use more Structure Language Practice
- Strategies for extended oral practice prior to writing

Special Needs:

- Require only one worker for each group.
- Put sentence frames up.

Accelerated Learners:

- Require more than 2 workers.

Pre-teaching Considerations

CCSS Foundational Standards (K-5 only)

Continue teaching the foundational standards through the Open Court Reading.

Lesson Delivery

Instructional Methods

- □ Modeling
- □ Guided Practice
- □ Collaboration
- □ Independent Practice
- □ Guided Inquiry
- □ Reflection

Lesson Continuum

Lesson Opening

1. Listen to the song “People Must Pay” on the DVD.
2. Tell students that we are going to learn about how goods get to us.

Lesson Sequence

Prepping the Learner:

1. Watch the Introduction video “The Grape Story” on the DVD or digital path
2. Text features: Scan the text:
   - Ask students to scan the text with a partner and look for text features. Ask them to identify the type of text this is (informational). Ask them to share out any features of informational text that they see. Be sure to point out any that they miss.

Interacting with the Text:

3. Read the title and the text to the students, following the instructions on the text. Read TE page 65 for complete lesson ideas
4. Watch the video “How We Get Goods”

Extending Understanding:

Collaborative Activity:
- Put the pictures of how people get cheese on overhead, in order, as you tell the story on the bottom of the page (TE page 68T5).

Differentiated Instruction:

English Learners:
Use more SLPs for extended oral practice prior to writing

Special Needs:
- Require only one sentence of needs and one of wants.
- Keep sentence frames up.

Accelerated Learners:
- Expect more complete, complex sentences.
- Remove the pictures
- Give students a piece of construction paper and a set of pictures. Allow them to work in pairs to sequence the pictures.

Writing: Student Learning Journal, p. 11.
Talk with students about what they learned today: growing strawberries, making orange juice, factories, making cheese (allow students to look at their SS newspaper as you talk.) Ask students to draw and write words or a sentence about something they learned today. Use the sentence starter: Today I learned ______. You can give more direction if you choose, but we want students to have opportunities to “free write” about their learning.

  - H-SS1.6 Students understand basic economic concepts and the role of individual choice in a free-market economy.

English Language Arts:
- Reading Informational Text
  - RI.1.1 Ask and answer questions about key details in a text.
  - RI.1.2 Identify the main topic and retell key details of a text.
  - RI.1.4 Ask and answer questions to help determine or clarify the meaning of words and phrases in a text.
  - RI.1.6 Distinguish between information provided by pictures or other illustrations and information provided by the words in a text.
  - RI.1.7 Use the illustrations and details in a text to describe its key ideas.
  - RI.1.10 With prompting and support, read informational texts appropriately complex for grade 1.
    a) Activate prior knowledge related to the information and events in a text.

Writing Standards
- W.1.2 Write informative/explanatory texts in which they name a topic, supply some facts about the topic, and provide some sense of closure.
- W.1.8 With guidance and support from adults recall information from experiences or gather information from provided sources to answer a question.

Speaking and Listening
- SL.1.1 Participate in collaborative conversations.
- SL.1.2 Ask and answer questions about key details in a text read aloud or information presented orally or through other media.
- SL.1.4 Describe people, places, things, and events with relevant details, expressing ideas and feelings clearly.
- SL.1.6 Produce complete sentences when appropriate to task and situation.

Language
- L.1.1 Demonstrate command of the conventions of standard English grammar and usage when writing or speaking.
- L.1.2 Demonstrate command of the conventions of standard English capitalization, punctuation, and spelling when writing.
- L.1.6 Use words and phrases acquired through conversations, reading and being read to, and responding to text, including using frequently occurring conjunctions to signal simple relationships (e.g., because)

Interacting with the text:
Show veterinarian video segment and text dependent questions in student journal. Read question with students prior to viewing segments.

Reading Comprehension/Close Read: Second View of the Veterinarian

1. Put the note taking guide on the document camera and show them how it is organized.
   - Text Dependent Questions
   - Picture Clue Answers with the answers of A or B (Question #2 is the only one where the students will have to write a phrase or word, depending on the discussion to answer it).

Note Taking Guide is in the Student Learning Journal, p. 12

2. Use the note taking guide to read the questions for discussion before viewing of video segments: Segment 1- Question 1 Time (Start: 00:00 Stop: 1:17); Question 2 Time (Start: 00:00 Stop: 1:17)

Differentiated Instruction for Reading

English Learners: Assist these students with answers by giving them the linguistic patterns and point to the picture.

Students Who Need Additional Support: Point to pictures and use them as context clues. Encourage talk with the use of linguistic patterns. Chunk the sentences.

Accelerated Learners: Encourage these students to use the text and paraphrase information from the video.

Differentiated Instruction for Writing

Advanced Learners: Ask them to make a sentence from the map prior to giving them one. Sentences can also be more complex.

English Learners: Have them practice with sentence frames.

Special Needs: Create more simplified sentences.
Vocabulary:
Through discussion clarify: diversity

Add any new information to the Process Grid.

Extending Understanding: WRITING
Language and Writing: Have students recall (with a partner) all the things the veterinarian does in the video. As they share, list the details on the first branch on the Classifying Map (Tree Map).

Veterinarian

- fixes broken bones
- helps many kinds of animals
- provides surgery and acupuncture for animals
- checks animals teeth

a. Read the list and ask students to identify the main idea. Chart students’ responses. Work with students as needed to extract the main idea.

b. If students have NOT come up with “A veterinarian does many things to take care of animals.” Ask them again, what they saw the veterinarian do throughout the video.

c. Write the main idea to the heading of the first branch of the Classifying Map (Tree Map).

d. Add a “title” to the Classifying Map (Tree Map): Veterinarian.

For language practice, “read” the map. Start with the main idea and add a detail or two: i.e. “A veterinarian does many things to care of animals. He fixes broken bones. He helps many kinds of animals.” etc.

Oral Practice
- He ___________.
- He____and _____.

Partner Talk
- students practice reading the map with a partner.
  - Collaborative oral practice
    - talking stick or lines of communication
    - after group practice (my turn, your turn with teacher)

Student Learning Journal p.14: Students write two or three details on journal pg. 14 about a veterinarian. A picture of a veterinarian is already included; students should add the details in the picture. This part could be a workshop activity.

Say: “Today we are going to continue to view the veterinarian video. We will watch the video in parts to answer Text Dependent Questions using a Note Taking Guide.”

1. Revisit the note taking guide on the document camera and show them how it is organized.
   - Text Dependent Questions
   - Picture Clue Answers with the answers of A or B (Question #2 is the only one where the students will have to write a phrase or word, depending on the discussion to answer it).

   Note Taking Guide is in the Student Learning Journal, p. 13.

2. Use the PowerPoint which will provide the questions for discussion before the viewing and will have the video segments ready for each question as noted on the note taking guide.

   Continue modeling use of the Note Taking Guide, as done in Lesson 10.
   - Read each question before viewing the selected segment of the video.
   - Students listen to the segment.
   - Students independently record answers from the video using evidence, in this case the pictures clues, from the video.
   - Next, give students time to discuss their answers with their partner. Use Talk Moves and Stems from Collaborative Academic Conversations.
   - Circulate as students are talking offering guided inquiry through questioning and corrective feedback as necessary.
   - Call on a few students to share their answer. If a student is unable to contribute something accurate, direct him/ her back to their partner. Use questioning, returning to the text, and partner talk to support student understanding (guiding them to the correct answer). Record responses on the note taking guide which you have placed on the document camera or poster size Note Taking Guide.
   - Repeat process for the next segment of the video.

Common Core Content Standards and California Content Standards

- CA History -Social Science :
  - H-SS Students examine the geographic and economic aspects of life in their own neighborhoods
  - H-SS1.6 Students understand basic economic concepts and the role of individual choice in a free-market economy.

- English Language Arts:
  - Reading Informational Text
    - RI.1.1 Ask and answer questions about key details in a text.
    - RI.1.2 Identify the main topic and retell key details of a text.
    - RI.1.4 With prompting and support, ask and answer questions about unknown words in a text.
    - RI.1.6 Distinguish between information provided by pictures or other illustrations and information provided by the words in a text.
    - RI.1.7 Use the illustrations and details in a text to describe its key ideas.
    - RI.1.10 With prompting and support, read informational texts appropriately complex for grade 1.

- Foundational Skills
  - FS1.1 Demonstrate the understanding the organization and basic features of text.
  - FS1.3 Know and apply grade-level phonics and word analysis skills in decoding words both in isolation and in text.
  - FS1.4 Read with sufficient accuracy and fluency to support comprehension.

- Writing Standards
  - W1.2 Write an informative/explanatory text.
  - W1.8 With guidance and support from adults recall information from experiences or gather information from provided sources to answer a question.

- Speaking and Listening
  - SL1.1 Participate in collaborative conversations.
  - SL1.2 Ask and answer questions about key details in a text read aloud or information presented orally or through other media.
  - SL1.4 Describe people, places, things, and events with relevant details, expressing ideas and feelings clearly.
  - SL1.6 Produce complete sentences when appropriate to task and situation.

- Language
  - L1.1 Demonstrate command of the conventions of standard English grammar and usage when writing or speaking.
  - L1.2 Demonstrate command of the conventions of standard English capitalization, punctuation, and spelling when writing.
  - L1.6 Use words and phrases acquired through conversations, reading and being read to, and responding to text, including using frequently occurring conjunctions to signal simple relationships (e.g., because)

Preparing the Learner:

Prior Knowledge, Context, and Motivation:

Say: “Today we are going to view a few segments of the veterinarian video. We will watch the video and focus on what do you have to do to be a veterinarian.”
Interacting with the text:
Display the Power Point Lesson with veterinarian video and text dependent questions

Reading Comprehension/Close Read:  Third View of the Veterinarian

Vocabulary:
Through discussion clarify: boarding kennel, groomer’s parlor

1. Use the Power Point which will provide the questions for discussion before the viewing and will have the video segments ready.
   - Read the focus question, “What do you have to do to be a veterinarian?” before viewing the selected video.
   - Have them listen and watch the video.
   - When done, go to the next slide that reviews the focus question once more.
   - Next, give them time to discuss their answers with their partner. Use Talk Moves and Stems from Collaborative Academic Conversations.
   - Circulate as students are talking offering guided inquiry through questioning and corrective feedback as necessary.
   - Finally, randomly call on a few students to share their answer, if a student is unable to contribute something accurate, direct him/her back to their partner. Use questioning, returning to the text, and partner talk to support student understanding (guiding them to the correct answer).
   - Record responses on the third branch of the Veterinarian Classifying Map (Tree Map) after the 2 segments of the video are done and the question has been answered.
   - Repeat process for the next segment of the video.

Oral Practice

A person ___________.
A person______and ______.

Student Learning Journal p.15: Students write two or three details on journal p.15 about a veterinarian. A picture of a veterinarian is already included; students should add the details in the picture. This part could be a workshop activity.

Workshop Group Activity:
The teacher can practice with a small group, reading the Emergent Reader, “All About a Veterinarian”.

Lesson Reflection
All About Veterinarians (Vets)

Do veterinarians go to school?
Yes, vets go to school.
Vets read and learn.

What do veterinarians do?
Vets help pets.
Vets help sick animals.

What else do veterinarians do?
Vets help zoo animals.
Vets help farm animals.
Vets help sea animals.

How do veterinarians help animals?
Vets give checkups.
Vets do surgery.

Do veterinarians use tools?
Yes, vets use tools.
Vets use many tools.

Lesson Opening
Preparing the Learner:
Context:
Point to the pictorial of the neighborhood and identify who provide services? Add or draw students’ attention to the fire station.

Prior Knowledge:
1. Students pair-share what they know about firefighters.
2. Share out what THEIR PARTNER said.

Motivation:
Introduce big book story “Firefighters.”
Lesson Sequence

Interacting with Text:
“Firefighters” – First Read
1. Give the students time to look at the photographs that go with the text on each page. This book was meant to be read with the photographs!
2. During this reading do the following for each page:
   a. Point out the photograph: What do your students see?
   b. Read the text at a natural pace.

After Reading:
Students will retell what they remember from the reading. Use proximity to listen to your students’ conversations (see differentiated instruction on right for some strategies to assist students). This is an opportunity to see how well your students grapple with complex text and it will help you inform your instruction on future reads of this text.

Process Grid:
Ask: Is there anything we should add to our process grid that we learned from reading “Firefighters”?
Add what students say, if anything.

Extending Understanding:
Writing:
Prewriting: (20 minutes)
Begin by drawing a new pictorial of a firefighter (see clip art) on chart paper. As you draw, explain that firefighters need special gear and tools to perform their job. As you label the gear and tools, model sentences explaining the firefighter’s use of the special gear and tools.

Oral Rehearsal
Echo Talk or Partner Talk:
Beginning to Early Intermediate:
A firefighter needs _____________.
A firefighter uses _____________.

Intermediate to English Only:
A firefighter needs _____________ because
___________.
A firefighter uses _____________ because
___________.

Students label the firefighter’s gear and water hose in the Student Learning Journal, p. 17.

Differentiated Instruction

English Learners:
Assist students with vocabulary.
Provide sentence starters for retell:
Firefighters _________

Students Who Need Additional Support:
Assist students with vocabulary.
Provide sentence starters for retell:
Firefighters _________

Accelerated Learners:
Listen carefully to their conversation and add deeper questioning to allow for more conversation, i.e. Tell me more

Advanced Learners:
Use wait time to allow students to come up with their own.

English Learners:
Assist students by using linguistic patterns for questions.

Special Needs:
Assist students by using linguistic patterns for questions and/or model a few first.

| Close Read of Complex Text |
| Purpose: listen for evidence of all the things the firefighters do at the station |

| Text Dependent Questions: |
| Differentiated Instruction |
| English Learners: |
| Assist these students with the vocabulary by also pointing to the pictures as you reread. |
Pg. 24:
- How long do firefighters work in a day?
  o Clarify vocabulary: 24 hour day
- What is something that both the firefighters and our classroom do at the start of every day?” (Roll call)

Pg. 25:
- Why is he cooking? Refer back to the concept that they are there for 24 hours and need to eat three meals there.
  o Clarify vocabulary: crew

Pg. 27:
- How do firefighters keep the station sparkling clean?
- Why do they ‘check the equipment’?
- What equipment might they check?”
  o Clarify vocabulary: equipment, regularly

Pg. 29:
- Why do they need to know about maps?
- What does hazardous material mean? Can you think of any hazardous materials? Why do they need to know about them?”

Pg. 31:
- What is a catnap?
- Why do they only get to take catnaps?”

Add to the process grid: Ask: Is there anything we should add to our process grid that we learned from reading “Firefighters”? Add what students say, if anything.

Extending Understanding:
Writing:
Have students recall (with a partner) all the things firefighters do at the fire station (only info from this part of the text). As they share, list the details on the first branch of the Classifying Map (Tree Map).

- cook food
- learn new things
- daily chores
- clean the truck
- exercise & T.V.

a. Read the list and ask students to identify the main idea.
b. Chart students’ responses. Work with students as needed to extract the main idea.
c. If students have NOT come up with “Firefighters have many things to do at the fire station.” Tell them again that the author often tells us the main idea at the beginning. Go back and read the first page again.
d. Write the main idea to the heading of the first branch of the Classifying Map (Tree Map).
e. Add a “title” to the Classifying Map (Tree Map): Firefighters.

Students Who Need Additional Support:
Assist these students with the vocabulary by also pointing to the pictures as you reread. Use pictures on the Classifying Map (Tree Map) for students who don’t read.

Accelerated Learners:
Write the words on the map for students who are reading.
Language and Writing:
For language practice, “read” the map. Start with the main idea and add a detail or two: i.e. “Firefighters have many things to do at the station. They wash the truck. They answer phones.” etc.

Oral Practice
- They __________.
- They ____and ____.

- Partner Talk
  - Students practice reading the map with a partner.

- Collaborative oral practice
  - Talking stick or lines of communication
  - After group practice (my turn, your turn with teacher)

Writing:
Students write two or three details in their Student Learning Journal, p. 18. This part could be a workshop activity.

The Firefighter Song

(Sung to the tune of: If You’re Happy and You Know It)

A firefighter helps when we’re in need, He drives a big red truck with some speed
The fires he puts out,
He saves lives without a doubt,
A firefighter helps when we’re in need.

If you’re house catches fire, call him up
He’ll get there in a hurry call him up.
He’ll extinguish all the flames,
Never ask who’s to blame,
If your house catches fire, call him up.

She’ll be wearing all her gear when she shows up,
A helmet, mask and boots when she shows up,
A yellow jacket she will wear,
And a breathing tank for air,
She’ll be wearing all her gear when she shows up.

A firefighter helps when we’re in need,
She drives a big red truck with some speed
The fires she puts out,
She saves lives without a doubt,
A firefighter helps when we’re in need.

Extending Understanding:

Writing:
Have students recall (with a partner) all the things firefighters do when the alarm sounds. As they share, list the details on the second branch of the tree map.

![Tree Map Diagram]

Language and Writing:

Oral Language Practice
- Read the tree map. Start with the main idea and add a detail: i.e. “Firefighters have to move quickly when the alarm sounds. They slide down the pole. They jump on the trucks.”
- Partner Talk
  - students practice reading the map with a partner.
- Collaborative oral practice
  - talking stick or lines of communication
  - after group practice (my turn, your turn with teacher)

Writing:

Student Learning Journal, p. 19: Students write two or three details. This part could be a workshop activity.
Firefighters have to move quickly when the alarm rings.

Lesson Continuum

Lesson Opening

Prior Knowledge, Context, and Motivation:
Shared Reading

Lesson Sequence

Interacting with Text:
Address/clarify vocabulary by helping students figure out meaning and by providing step aside explanations when necessary.

Close read of Complex Text
Purpose: listen for evidence of what firefighters do at the fire

Text Dependent Questions:

pp. 38-39:
Why do firefighters use walkie-talkies?
  - Clarify: keep in touch

p. 40:
What safety equipment do the firefighters have?
What would happen if they didn’t have air tanks?

p. 41
When do firefighters use a platform ladder?”

Differentiated Instruction for Reading

English Learners:
Assist these students with the vocabulary by also pointing to the pictures as you reread (Also use ELSG Guide)

Students Who Need Additional Support:
Assist these students with the vocabulary by also pointing to the pictures as you reread. Use pictures
Clarify: platform

p. 42:
How do firefighters fight the fire and rescue people?

p. 43:
Why do firefighters use a pumper?

p. 44:
Why do you think it takes two men to hold the hose?

p. 46:
What does the author mean by “the firefighters are ready for the next fire?”

p. 47:
What are some things firefighters do that make them feel proud of their work?

Identifying the Main Idea
1. Partner Talk: Share what you learned about what firefighters do at a fire?

2. Chart students responses as tree map details (3rd branch)
   a. Read the list and ask students what all these things tell about.
   b. If students have NOT come up with “Firefighters have many things to do at the fire station.” Tell them again that the author often tells us the main idea at the beginning. Go back and read the first page again.
   c. Write the main idea as the heading for the third branch of the tree map.

Firefighters

Firefighters have many things to do at the fire.
- cook food.
- learn new things.
- do daily chores
- clean the truck.
- exercise & watch TV.

Firefighters have to move quickly when the alarm rings.
- drop everything
- rush to trucks
- slide down pole
- get dressed quickly in gear
- drive to fire

Firefighters have many things to do at a fire.
- use walkie talkies to talk
- use a ladder
- open roof & windows
- attach lines to pump
- aim streams of water
- clean up after fire

Lesson Writing About What you Read

Extending Understanding:

Language:
For language practice, “read” the map. Start with the main idea and add a detail or two: i.e. “Firefighters have many things to do at a fire.

- Oral Practice
  - They __________.
  - They ___and ____.

- Partner Talk
  - students practice reading the map with a partner.

Differentiated Instruction for Reading

Advanced Learners:
Read questions

English Learners:
Use drawing clues next to the questions as an anchor to assist them in the meaning
- Collaborative oral practice
  - talking stick or lines of communication
  - after group practice (my turn, your turn with teacher)

Writing:

_Student Learning Journal, p. 20_: Students write two or three details. This part could be a workshop activity.

Pre-teaching Considerations

Realize that students think only of firefighters as putting out fires and saving people. Today you will focus on the exciting part of a firefighter’s job.

CCSS Foundational Standards (K-5 only)

Continue teaching the foundational standards through the Open Court Reading.

Lesson Delivery

Instructional Methods

Check method(s) used in the lesson:

- ☒ Modeling  ☒ Guided Practice  ☒ Collaboration  ☐ Independent Practice  ☒ Guided Inquiry  ☒ Reflection

Lesson Continuum

Lesson Opening

Preparing the Learner:

Prior Knowledge, Context, and Motivation:

Say: Let’s reread the poem “Firefighters Poem”, Use shared reading strategies to read the poem again.

Lesson Sequence

Interacting with Text:

Type of Reading: Close reading of pages 42-45

Say: Today we will look at just a couple of pages that are really interesting and see exactly how firefighters go about the task (or work) of putting out a fire. After all, this is one of the most important tasks they do.

p. 42 Re-read this page. “Let’s think about where the fire would be. Where might some people be trapped? (Inside the building) What do they have to do to get to the people they need to rescue and to get to the flames? Why do you think the author used the words ‘break’ and ‘smash’? Do these words make you think of doing something slowly and gently, or fast and hard?

p. 43 Re-read this page. ‘Look at what word is sort of repeated here. (pump) Talk about the meaning and how the word changed: pumper trucks (pumper describes the trucks-adj), pumps – verb.

p. 45 Re-read this page. “Just to make sure the fire doesn’t start again.” That is an interesting sentence. How could a fire start again? What exactly do they do to make sure it doesn’t start again?

Add to the process grid: Ask: Is there anything we should add to our process grid that we learned from reading “Firefighters?” Add what students say, if anything.

Extending Understanding: Writing:
Create a cooperative sentence strip activity using the GLAD sentence patterning chart (follow these directions or refer to the GLAD directions on the next page):

- On the white board or chart paper write “firefighters”, maybe in blue marker.
- Have students generate adjectives that describe firefighters. Write these words at the left the word “firefighters, in another color (green?)
- Then have students recall some of the tasks firefighters do in their job. Write these phrases to the right of the word “firefighters”, in a different color (red?).
- Have students recall the different places or times a firefighter works (station and at a fire and when an alarm rings.) Write these to the right of the phrases in a different color (purple?).
- You can do the “Farmer in the Dell” song to give students idea of how it works. Do some oral practice. Have 3 students come up and select the ‘choices’, i.e. adj., verb phrases, location. Practice creating and saying those sentences. Model having these students write on a sentence strip(s).
- Two examples: Strong, brave firefighters rescue people at a fire. Busy, tired firefighters take catnaps at the station.
- Give students a marker to match the color of their assigned part of the sentence.
- Use the collective strips to create a paragraph about firefighters in a pocket chart. You can tear off some repetitive noun phrases and replace them with “they” to revise.
- Consider having students work in collaborative groups. Each student can write one sentence from the sentence patterning chart on a small strip of paper. They can glue them onto a piece of construction paper to form a paragraph. They would have to cooperatively agree on what they write, so the sentences are all different and tell a complete story.

Students Who Need Additional Support:
Assist these students with the vocabulary by also pointing to the pictures as you reread. Use pictures on the tree map for students who don’t read.

Accelerated Learners:
Write the words on the map for students who are reading.

Lesson Reflection
Co-op Strip and Group Frame Paragraphs

Step-by-Step Process

1. The teacher creates a topic sentence based on the writing prompt.

2. Each team is responsible for formulating one supporting sentence.

3. Each teams’ members work together to formulate a sentence orally. When they all agree on a sentence, they raise their hands to state the sentence to the teacher.

4. After confirming that the team agreed on the sentence and that it has not already been used, the teacher either a) writes the sentence on a sentence strip for the group (group frame) or b) provides the team with a sentence strip to record their sentence (co-op paragraph).

5. Teams place their sentence strips in the pocket chart under the topic sentence.

6. After all of the teams have placed their sentences in the pocket chart, the teacher calls the students to sit on the rug in front of the pocket chart to begin the revision and editing process.

7. The teacher begins with revising. He/She has the class read the piece chorally, and then asks the students to identify some strong words or phrases found in the paragraph. The teacher highlights these words with a highlighting marker.

8. Next, the teacher indents the first line of the paragraph, tears extra space off of the sentence strips, and arranges the strips to look like a paragraph. The class reads through the paragraph again.

9. Referring to the standards and rubric for revision, the teacher solicits possible revisions (changing the order of the sentences, combining sentences, adding more details, substituting more descriptive words, substituting pronouns for nouns, etc.). Each time revisions are made, the class reads the paragraph again.
8. Next, referring to your standards and rubric, the teacher solicits ideas for editing, including spelling, grammar, and punctuation.

9. The final version of the paragraph is typed and used for reading material and as a model of writing.

Note: There are many derivations of this process. You can also give students the sentence strip and using a pencil, they can try to write the sentence first. Then, they can refer to the teacher for revision. Using a colored marker, they can write over the pencil with corrections.

Lesson Continuum

Lesson Opening

Prior Knowledge, Context, and Motivation:

Student will:

- work with a partner or small group to sort the community workers by whether they provide a good or service, and
- discuss which community worker they would like to be when they grow up

Lesson Sequence

Part 1

Performance Task: Collaborative Sort

1. Review the Collaborative Conversation Norms and group students with a partner or in a small group.
2. With a partner or in a small collaborative group students will sort community workers by whether they provide a good or service.
3. Review the pictorial or the Neighborhoods at Work process grid and all the different community workers within the neighborhood
4. Review how some workers provide services. Have students share in their group what this means. (These workers do things to make a neighborhood safe, clean, and easier for people to live).
5. Review how some workers provide goods. Have students share in their group what this means. (These community helpers provide people in the neighborhood with things they need to live, such as, food, clothing and other things people want or need).
6. Pass out the baggies with community workers. Display the headings “Workers Who Provides Goods” and “Workers Who Provide Services” in your pocket chart. Tell students to sort the Community/Neighborhood Workers into these two categories. Remind them to take turns and work together to sort the pictures in the correct category. When all students understand the task, say: “Begin.”
7. Using proximity, look for the following:
   - Are students talking, sharing, and working together

Differentiated Instruction:

English Learners:

Encourage students to use the pictorial and the process grid and sentence frames to form opinion and write two to three reasons for their choice.

- I believe _________
- I think _________
