C.E.O expects everyone to give 110%

Changing our name to EGamez from Extraterrestrial Entertainment has given a whole new vibe to the company and according to the Chief Executive Officer, Valerie Sanchez, this year will be different than last year in the way that there will be major improvement in the effort of our fellow employee's. She knows that everyone will give 110% throughout the year. Expectations are high this year; with recent employees Eduardo Perez stating that he hopes this new company will win awards and truly be successful. He believes that this year's strategies will help out the company 's achievement and more work will get done.

Stressing Times

The introduction to the new year not only brings a positive atmosphere to the company. One of the many negative feelings is stress; with various activities happening and small amounts of time for them it creates a large amount of anxiety for the company and it's employees. Both department leaders and casual associates have a constant worry about whether or not bimonthly materials will get done throughout the time period. Even with all this disorder, it should be announced that there is nothing to be stressed about. Being the last year for all of us we should make it enjoyable and work through all the hassle of stress

Determination is key

As the end of October approaches leaders and associates are trying to get their task completed in time to be eligible to compete in Bakersfield this November. Unfortunately last year Extraterrestrial Entertainment now known as Egamez was unable to win any awards, but this year everything is going to be different. This year everything and everyone is more committed and better yet determined. Every department is required to compete in one competition in their category. A few competitions we will be competing in will include (Catalog, Newsletter, Video Commercial, Employee Manual, Finance and booth). In order for us to actually do well in any of these events it's not only going to take time but a lot of

Virtual Enterprise Training

On Tuesday October 16 several employees had the opportunity to attend the Virtual Enterprise Training in Orange County. This training is designated to provide students with information that will help them be successful in their virtual business. They provided different sessions including Leadership, Human Resources, Accounting, Banking, Marketing/Sales and the Business Plan. The Chief Officers Valerie Sanchez and Vanessa Valencia attended Leadership and Business Plan. Our banker Stephanie Flores went to the banking workshop, Daisy Tapia to Accounting, Ivan Trujillo to Human Resources, Vanessa Gonzalez, Jose Agustin and Jesus Gonzalez went to Marketing/Sales. Everyone came well prepared because when the speaker was talking they were taking notes on everything they learned. By taking these notes all the leaders had a more clear understanding of how to do their jobs. However this training will only give them a head start because it is up to them if they are going to use the information or not. After the training the leaders got together to discuss what they learned during their sessions and if the information helped them clarify any questions or concerns they had about there jobs. Overall everyone felt that this was very helpful and they had a good time meeting real business workers that motivated them to always do everything to the best of their ability.

Employee of the Month

Many employees have been working hard to progress in the corporation. With outstanding workers making an improvement throughout the company it is a great honor to declare the first employee of the month this year, Mariela Cacho, who has been working diligently in the sales department. Quiet and shy is what she is known for but little acknowledgement is recognized for her exceptional effort. EGamez will continue to celebrate and recognize all of the hard working staff in the future.
