Employee Rules and Regulations for Use of E-mail

The District's electronic mail (e-mail) system is for employees of the District to facilitate rapid and clear communications within and outside of the District. It is the intent of the District that the e-mail system be used only for District business.

Rules and Regulations

District e-mail rules and regulations:

1. All e-mail communications, as all paper documents, are the property of the District and are subject to office policy, procedure, control and review. There should be no expectation of privacy in anything created, stored, forwarded, received, or printed on the District's e-mail system. E-mail communications become public documents available to the public.(California Public Records Act, Government Code Section 6250-6276.48)

2. E-mail communication that requires storage shall be stored on the hard drive of a computer, archived, forwarded, or printed.

3. No statement, representation or position expressed by employees of the District in e-mail communications shall be attributed to the District or binding thereon unless approved in advance or ratified by express action of the Superintendent or by the Superintendent's designee.

4. E-mail communication shall not contain profanity or other unprofessional language, shall not be malicious, defamatory, used to harass, or used for disparaging remarks or comments toward persons or groups on the basis of gender, sexual preference, race, color, creed, religion, or national origin, or be disruptive of District business or activities. Email may not be utilized to encourage or condone illegal activities.
